

Letter From The Editor

Greetings Nunn Better! Pet Care Clients!

It's already November and pretty soon we will all be running around trying to get ready for holiday celebrations and get-togethers.

Make sure to plan ahead to set up your pet sitting services so that you can travel and celebrate worry-free, knowing your pets are well taken care of.

OUR MISSION

Tales About Tails: Hachi: A Dog's Tale

Editor's Pick by Kimi Homer

Warning: You will need some tissue as you sniffle your way through this sweet movie.

"Hachi: A Dog's Tale" is a very moving—and family friendly— flick that beautifully illustrates the bond and devotion that animals can have with humans, in this case, with an Akita. This 2009 movie was a remake of the original Japanese film based on the true story of a man whose best friend was an Akita named Hachiko- "Hachi." I will not ruin the movie experience by describing the story anymore, but I will tell you that this dog was so devoted to his owner that he waited by the train station every day for nine years for him! Would you wait for anyone like that?

Business Of The Month

Mary Vierthaler is an accomplished real estate professional that adds a personal touch. So committed to her profession, she holds monthly "mixers" for her trade professionals and holds them to the highest degree of professionalism and standards.

Treating her clients as "family" - she has many "added value services" ! Her yearly Pumpkin Patch Contest and monthly Client Appreciation Program is just an example of staying in touch with her client family.

Need an A+ Realtor in another part of the United States ? Call Mary ! She has been in a Real Estate Coaching Company for the past ten years, and can interview and locate just the right agent for YOU ! It is all part of her exceptional service.

Even Mary for more information on how you can become a part of her "client family" - even though you may not have immediate real estate needs. You will be so glad you did !

Up Close and Personal

The Human-Animal Bond

Home At Last is a mobile veterinary practice focusing on end of life care for your beloved pet.

Many loved pets throughout the years have had a profound impact on Dr. Kirt. The creation of Home At Last for end of life veterinary care is due largely to Dr. Kirt's personal experience of the human-animal bond through the relationships formed with her pets.

A Nunn Better! client had sent a request for the topic of animal provisions to be discussed in a newsletter. Every pet owner should have a contingency plan in place should something happen to them, whether economically or physically.

This is a good idea not just for the elderly, or handicapped, as anything can happen to anyone at any time. Make sure there is a friend or family member that knows the wishes of the pet owner for the care of their animals. It is also extremely helpful for those loved ones to know the pet sitter's contact information as well, and placing a note in the client file expressing the owner's wishes for their animals can also ensure that the pet sitters will be a well-informed resource, as they are usually "first responders" if help or aid is needed.

One organization that may help steer pet owners in the right direction with making these decisions is Little Lotus Hearts; they are a group which helps pet owners with animals in all ages and stages of life —and death. You may go to their Web site or view their advertisement in the latest Bark magazine.
